The work of Camilla Edström Ödemark (b. 1985, Finland) takes a strong interest in identity, alienation and capitalism. Focusing on how norms and ideals are represented and established through popular culture and myth, the key question to her practice is what structures enables and limits Western identities. With a BFA from Konstfack, Sweden, Edström Ödemark is now based in Malmö. Her work has been shown at Galleri CC (Malmö, Sweden), Isthisit? (London) and Spriten Kunsthall (Skien, Norway). In 2017 she received the Swedish Cultural Foundation's working grant for a project on history revisionism, memory and national identity.
